Information of Interest: Student Finance Applications

Students who intend to apply for a student loan should be aware that the online application for full-time studies is available at www.alis.alberta.ca/apply.

Important information on student loans can be found on the Can Learn website http://www.canlearn.ca If you want to find what the expected parent contribution is Click> Online Tools, Click > Parental Contribution Calculator.

Note: In 2010, if you are a single student living away from home your monthly living expense allowance is $941.00 (x 8 months = $7528.00) Other info can be obtained by going to www.alis.ca , Click > Student Finance, Click > About Loans and Grants Click > eligible for a student loan, Click > Living allowances and funding limits.

Post Secondary Applications
Before you apply for a post-secondary institution read this. Apply Alberta is an online application and transcript transfer system that all grade 12 students should use to apply to undergraduate programs at one or more of Alberta’s post-secondary institutions. Go online now to create your own profile/password that you can use to apply for any post-secondary school. There is no cost to use this service but you first need your Alberta Student Number to do this so if you need it go see your career counselor or the school secretary. Go to www.applyalberta.ca.

INTRODUCTION
Each year, thousands of dollars in award funding is unclaimed in Canada. Why do eligible students miss the funding they have earned? Because they don't know when or where to apply.

Hopefully, this handbook will assist you in attaining all the scholarships, awards and bursaries you are eligible for.

MEETING THE CRITERIA
Here are some hints and examples of how you can show that you meet the criteria. How can you demonstrate some of the foremost qualities? You must look at your activities and decide what they illustrate. Be careful: do not belittle your accomplishments. Even the smallest activities will indicate some special skill or quality that is unique to you.

Athletic Ability

Obviously, being chosen for the school team is a way of showing your athletic ability. But it is not the only way. Don't forget to include representation on local or municipal teams, and any other teams you have been on over the years. How about that golf trophy or the bowling trophy?

Extracurricular Activities

This is an activity above and beyond what is expected of you in regular classroom studies. Participation in clubs or local teams are obvious activities, but don't forget it may also include activities outside of school as well. Sports, drama, bands, science clubs, photo club, or 4H, are all examples of extracurricular activities.

Financial Need

Work out your potential costs for university and the funds you actually have.

Residence Requirements

This is your home, where your parents live, even if, as a student, you are away from home. If you are on your own, it is probably where you are presently living and have been for a minimum time.

Note: If you split your time between two parents you may have two residences; this may be an asset to you, so be sure to check the individual funding source for their criteria. It may mean a special letter posing your question before you make application.

Voluntary Service

This is going to be one of your most important criteria. Volunteer work at the hospital, helping at the Special Olympics, being a member of a service club, singing in the church choir, child minding at the local craft fair, coaching the Little League ball team, cleaning up after the school dance are all examples of when you have been of service to others.

Citizenship
Citizenship can have two meanings. It refers to the country in which you were born. Usually this is the same as your parents, but it may be different. The label may also refer to your volunteer capabilities. Have you been someone who is helpful? Document it. Get references if you can. Have you served on committees? This may have demonstrated citizenship.

HOW TO APPLY FOR A SCHOLARSHIP

Plan Ahead

Request application forms as early as possible.

When in Doubt, APPLY!

The element of competition may work in your favour. Let the judges decide how much Icelandic blood must run in the winner's veins this year, not you.

Fill out the school's General Application form

Most Canadian universities and colleges provide a general financial aid application form.

Do it right

- Make a photocopy of each form to use as a working copy.
- It is preferable to type your application, or use black ink to copy your work to the donor's form: blue and red do not photocopy well. Never cross out or write over an entry.
- Give full answers to every question in the form.
- Mark response boxes with an X: no check marks, no words.
- Be sure to answer every question.
- Never write in the margins or outside the answer boxes. Attach a separate letter to clarify or add to the information requested.
- Be sure that you and your parents date and sign all forms.
- Make photocopies of each completed form, and keep them. You may need to refer to these documents again.
- Use letter sized paper (8 1/2" x 11") white or off-white.
- Highlight key words.
- Send your applications by registered mail and keep your dated receipts from Canada Post. You may be asked to prove your mailing date.

Follow up
Whenever you apply for an award, ask about other possible scholarship sources. Follow up every lead. Include a business-sized self-addressed-stamped-envelope with each request.
